

Feline Preventative Care Schedule

Our veterinarians will work with you to determine what vaccines and preventative care schedule is best for your kitten, based on their age, breed and lifestyle. In general, our hospital follows the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA)'s most recent vaccination guidelines as well as those provided by the American Association of Feline Practitioners to help provide a solid foundation for your kitten's preventative healthcare. The following chart outlines our general recommendations for feline patients.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding vaccines, diet, behavior or preventatives (heartworm, flea, tick, and intestinal parasites), please don't hesitate to ask a veterinarian or staff member.

Age	Vaccination/ Preventative Care	Diagnostic Procedures	Preventatives
6-8 weeks	FVRCP	Fecal examination	Intestinal dewormer FeLV/FIV test Start flea/tick/heartworm preventatives
12 weeks	FVRCP FeLV	Fecal examination	Intestinal dewormer Continue flea, tick and heartworm preventatives
16 weeks	FVRCP FeLV Rabies (1 year)	Fecal examination	Intestinal dewormer Continue flea, tick and heartworm preventatives
6-8 months	Spay/Neuter procedure Microchip	Pre-operative bloodwork	FeLV/FIV test

CITY PAWS VETERINARY CLINIC

1st-3rd annual exams	FVRCP (3 year) Rabies (1 or 3 year) FeLV (if applicable)	Fecal examination	Continue flea, tick and heartworm prevention year- round!
4th-6th annual exams	FVRCP (3 year) Rabies (1 or 3 year) FeLV (if applicable)	Fecal examination Young Wellness bloodwork screening	Continue flea, tick and heartworm prevention year- round!
7th annual exam and onward	FVRCP (3 year) Rabies (1 or 3 year) FeLV (if applicable)	Fecal examination Heartworm test Senior bloodwork screening (including UA and thyroid)	Continue flea, tick and heartworm prevention year- round!